

Spring bird-photography workshop in the Hortobágy National Park

© Tamás Imre

DATE: 29th of April to 3rd of May, 2010.

This Workshop gives a unique opportunity to photograph some of the special birds of the World Heritage Hortobágy National Park in Hungary. We shall be hoping to capture as many moments of the target birds as possible with our cameras! This will include both hide photography and stalking. Our Workshop will be led by Tamás Imre professional photographer, Canon Wildlife Ambassador.

With the following key species: Great White Egret, Little Egret, Pygmy Cormorant, Ferruginous Duck, Red-footed Falcon, Collared Flycatcher, Middle Spotted Woodpecker, Hawfinch. Also a wide range of waders and passerines possible. Approximately 30-35 species of birds during the workshop.

Since the maximum number of participants to this workshop is limited to 9 person, we accept reservation in order of registration!

Price: 850 euro / person and SRS is 60 euro

The price includes all transport (with minibus for airport transfer and 4x4 cars in the Hortobágy), all accommodation in the Trófea Nature Lodge, all meals, all guides, available professional photographer assistance, all national park and fisheries entrance fees and the usage of the unique hide system.

Upon request Canon and Nikon lenses are provided with limitation. First evening Tamas Imre will guide you through the secrets of the bird photography.

- On Thursday afternoon/evening landscape photo opportunity: sweep-pole well trio.
- Three full day bird photography in fix hides with maximum 3 persons/hide.
- For hide details check out the Sakertour website
- Friday, Saturday and Sunday evening photo analysis about the taken photos.

Registration by email : sakertour@gmail.com
Or via phone : +36 30 9957765 or +36205575572

The workshop organizer is Tamas Imre,
Canon Wildlife Ambassador
Co-operation with Janos Oláh, SakerTour

www.sakertour.com